TRICKY ROADS HATCHED MARKINGS BEFORE DALE RD

If you are asked to turn into Dale Road (towards the hospital), you will notice some 'hatched markings' before the junction. You should never enter hatched markings unless it is safe and necessary. However you will usually find most other drivers will ignore this rule. It is therefore vital that you check properly to your left before moving across after the markings. Signal early to alert other road users of you intention to change lanes.
